I. COURSE DESCRIPTION

Equips students to use the tools of systematic theology to understand, proclaim, and live the Christian faith today. We will address such questions as: How can we know God, and how do we adjudicate truth claims about God? How can God be both one and three? How can Jesus be both divine and human? Who is the Holy Spirit and how does the Spirit’s work relate to that of the Father and Son? How does theological knowledge impact our day-to-day lives in the church and in the world?

Prerequisites: HIST 0561 or HIST 0562

II. LEARNING OUTCOMES

At the end of the course, students will be able to:

1. Analyze the interconnection and cohesion of Christian doctrines and apply implications for Christian life, vocation, and mission.
2. Evaluate intelligently, graciously, and critically the theological ideas and writings of others, and articulate your own positions in a manner that is informed, coherent, winsome, and charitable.
3. Distinguish between the essentials and non-essentials of the Christian faith through deeper and broader exposure to the historic Christian Tradition.
4. Effectively identify, assess, and analyze theological sources through electronic library research tools.
5. Express their love for God and their worship of God through deeper and more integrated knowledge of God.

E. ASSIGNMENTS AND GRADING

1. Preliminary Research Assignment (4 pages; 20%, Due Feb. 9 at 11:59 p.m. via Moodle)

This assignment is related to Outcome #4.

This assignment will prepare students for the final research thesis paper and provide an opportunity for the instructor to give students feedback and direction. You might think of this assignment as completing a basic research proposal, within which you will identify one topic and one theologian and formulate a preliminary hypothesis (which you will test and defend or reformulate for your final term paper, based on your ongoing research and analysis).

In 4 pages, outline your basic plan for completing your research thesis paper, which argue a thesis concerning one major theological issue as addressed by one major theologian.

For more detailed instructions on how to complete this assignment, and where to find research resources, please see the supplementary document uploaded to Moodle.

2. Research Thesis Paper (12 pages, 40%; due Mar. 29 at 11:59 p.m. via Moodle)

This assignment is related to Outcomes #1, #3, and #4.

Students will write a 12-paged (+/- 10%) research paper on the topic proposed in assignment 1, above. Students should consult at least 8 good quality academic sources beyond the course materials (i.e., beyond assigned texts & readings), including several academic journal articles and at least 1 theological monograph (a major work by a theologian). The research thesis paper should demonstrate careful engagement with primary and secondary sources, critical analysis, thoughtful reflection, and should embody a conceptual argument (a thesis) in which various angles of the topic are explored in fairness. Be sure to consult the detailed Grading Grid and the Research Paper Instructions documents posted in Moodle. Read and follow these documents carefully at the beginning of your research and again when you begin writing your paper.

3. Short Theological Papers (2 x 12.5% = 25%; due Fridays by 11:59 p.m. via Moodle)

This assignment is related to Outcomes #2 and #3

Of the seven dates listed below, choose two on which to submit a 4-5 paged (1.5 or double spaced) theological reflection on that date's topic.

Drawing on and interacting with the course content for that day (readings, lectures, etc.), write your own theological response to the question or issue being addressed. Pages 1-3 should focus on describing the specific concept(s), issue(s), argument(s), and/or person (or people) related to the topic. Pages 4 (or 4-5) should be your own evaluative (critical and/or constructive) theological response to the topic. You just have 4-5 pages, so please be clear and concise, focusing on central concepts, issues, arguments, and possibly theologians. Dates and topics include the following (NOTE: all due dates fall on Fridays, via Moodle, by midnight. Remember, you just have to submit two papers):

- i) Due Jan. 19: What role should Tradition play in theology? Include one paragraph reflecting on the implications of this for your own theological development.
- ii) Due Jan. 26: What important contributions does reason or experience (choose one) make to theological knowledge? What are the limitations of that source for doing theology?
- iii) Due Feb. 9: Write a reflection on either one of God's attributes or about your preferred approach to theodicy (the problem of evil and suffering).
- iv) Due Mar. 1: Of the atonement theologies discussed, which one do you find to be most important and/or helpful and why? Which do you find least helpful and why? [In answering this question, offer theological reflection based on Scripture (interpreted in light of Tradition, reason, and experience), not just personal preference or 'gut' response.]
- v) Due Mar. 8: Write a reflection on one theological issue related to the Person of the Holy Spirit that interests you from the Basil reading (On the Holy Spirit).
- vi) Due Mar. 22: How is our salvation (our 'being saved') related to creation and new creation?

vii) Due Apr. 5: How might a trinitarian, participatory model of ministry, impact your approach to worship, or pastoral ministry, or Christian community, or social justice, or mission, or vocation (or some other aspect of Christian life and witness)? How might a trinitarian approach correct or affirm your/your church's present practice?

4. Personal Reflection on Kopic (4-5 pages; 15%; due April 8 at 11:59 p.m. via Moodle)

This assignment is related to Outcomes #1 and #6

Write a reflection paper (4-5 pages) on the practice of theology as it relates to your life as a Christian and to your particular vocation or calling to serve God in the world. Your reflection should interact with Kopic's A Little Book for New Theologians. Don't try to say everything that can be said about the topic generally. Limit your discussion to 2-3 key ideas/insights that you found to be most important. Reflect on how theology is relevant for both Christian life & vocation and the importance of our life & vocation being conceived theologically.

F. EQUITY OF ACCESS

Students with permanent or temporary disabilities who need academic accommodations must contact the Accessibility Services at the Centre for Academic Excellence to register and discuss their specific needs. New students must self-identify and register with the Accessibility Office at the beginning of the semester or as early as possible to access appropriate services. Current students must renew their plans as early as possible to have active accommodations in place.

G. SUMMARY OF ASSIGNMENTS AND GRADING

Evaluation is based upon the completion of the following assignments:

Assignment	Due	Weight
Preliminary Research Assignment	Feb. 9	20%
Short Theological Papers (2)	See p. 4	25%
Research Thesis Paper	Mar. 29	40%
Personal Reflection Paper on Kopic	Apr. 8	15%

Academic dishonesty is any breach of this integrity, and includes such practices as cheating (the use of unauthorized material on tests and examinations), submitting the same work for different classes without permission of the instructors; using false information (including false references to secondary sources) in an assignment; improper or unacknowledged collaboration with other students, and plagiarism (including improper use artificial intelligence programs). Tyndale University takes seriously its responsibility to uphold academic integrity, and to penalize academic dishonesty. Please refer to the Academic Integrity website for further details.

Students are encouraged to consult Writing Services. Citation and other tip sheets.

Students who are not familiar with Tyndale's policies on academic integrity and plagiarism should review Academic Integrity documents on Moodle under Student Resources on the top menu.

For tips on how to conduct proper research, how to do proper citations, and how to quote and paraphrase the work of others legitimately and effectively, please see the following videos provided by Tyndale's Centre for Academic Excellence:
