C. ASSIGNMENTS AND GRADING

Regular attendance in and punctuality for all classes is expected. Out of respect for your colleagues, please be on time for all classes. Absence from more than 2 classes may result in the loss of credit.

1. Family of Origin Paper and Genogram: Due November 27; 35% of final grade.

You will submit the completed genogram and paper via the course page (Moodle). Genogram must be converted to a word document for submission.

“Through the course of our lives we interact in many systems. However, it is the first system with which we interact, our family of origin, that has the most powerful and persistent influence on how we think and feel about ourselves and on how we interact with others. It is this system that has the most powerful impact, both positive and negative, on our future relationships.” (Fredda Herz Brown)

“An individual acquires from his early-family experiences, or “family of origin,” a set of explicit and implicit expectations, values, attitudes, and beliefs which serve as points of reference for the evaluation of all interpersonal life experiences. These interactions with the family of origin begin with the birth of an individual and continue to exert an influence throughout life.” (Brian Canfield)

Both of these quotes point to the influence of the family of origin on the individual. Understanding oneself, especially oneself within relationships, requires some understanding of the interpersonal dynamics of one’s family of origin.

Most families, however, with all their inadequacies, generally care for their members. To celebrate this reality, however, we need words that identify and validate family strengths as well as family limitations.

Considering the information gained in the readings and lectures, and using system's theory and terminology, apply the concepts from the texts and the content of the course to your reflections on your family and to your family genogram as follows:

- a. Do a "Family-of-Origin Genogram" (incorporating 3 generations). You may do this free hand or use a computer program for genograms such as Genopro. Whatever method you choose, you must include a legend to indicate what the various symbols mean. You must convert your genogram to an electronic copy that can be read as a word document. To be complete, your genogram should express the following:
 - Relationship dynamics among members (enmeshment, cut off, conflict, separation, divorce, abuse)
 - Ethnic background
 - Immigration
 - Dates of birth, death, marriage, divorce
 - Other issues of note such as diseases, mental illness, addictions, etc.
 - Brief descriptor of individuals of importance in your family history
 - Note: Genograms must be formatted on an electronic word document (double spaced, Times New Roman 12 pt. font, 1 inch margins) and submitted with the rest of the Family of Origin assignment. (Be aware that Genopro and other specialized programs cannot be downloaded unless the receiving computer has that program.)
- b. Write a 12-13 page paper which discusses the following in 4 parts:

Section 1: A brief introduction to your family and any pertinent information the reader should know.

Section 2: Analysis of your family identifying the themes, issues and repetitive interactional patterns in your family of origin and where these patterns have been transmitted across generational lines. This section should identify patterns using First Order Cybernetic language and terms primarily.

Section 3: Reflection on how these patterns (positive and negative) impact you personally today.

Section 4: Identification problematic patterns in your family of origin and how these will impact your safe and effective use of self as a therapist.

Note: I am especially interested in your reflections on how, in the light of your family of origin study, you understand yourself, your current relational patterns, and the impact of those patterns on you as a therapist.

YOUR FAMILY INTERVIEWS:

- PLEASE NOTE: The research and reflection for this assignment is extremely time consuming. In order to complete this assignment satisfactorily you will need to begin early in the semester by interviewing willing family members to get adequate information for this project. It is not enough to rely solely on your own experience in your family.
- Use the handouts titled “Family of Origin paper” found in the top section of your class page for suggestions on questions to ask family members.
- Personal interviews are best in that they give you opportunity to ask additional questions about the family members answers. This allows for greater depth of understanding of the family processes.
- Please note that we do not expect you press family members to give you information who are upset or not comfortable with disclosure of family information – after you have explained the value of the assignment for yourself.
- The questions and topics are only suggestions. It is not necessary to ask every question. As you proceed with interviews, certain themes will become apparent and will help you narrow down your areas of focus.
- If you cannot locate three generations for personal interviews, access information about those generations from aunts, uncles, and cousins, or parents.
- If you have no one but yourself left in your family, let me know the reasons for that in your introduction of your family, and gather information as best you can.

2. Richardson Assignments; Due November 6th; 10% of final grade

From the Richardson text, students will be required to submit their answers to the “Questions” embedded in the required Richardson readings (see course weekly schedule). These assignments are most useful when completed during the week assigned. They add understanding of the lecture materials and provide foundation for the Family of Origin paper. They should be completed and typed on a word document – double spaced, Times New Roman 12 pt. font, 1 inch margins – on the week assigned and all submitted on one Word document November 1st on the class page. Length is not an issue, but thoughtful reflection is required. (Most students end up submitting anywhere between 18 – 30 pages.)

3. 1st Quiz: Due October 30th; 10% of final grade

This will be a short answer quiz in which the student must define and demonstrate recognition of various systems and dynamics of 1st Order Cybernetic Theory discussed over the course of the semester.

[Note: Quizzes will be take-home and students given 3 days to complete and submit via the class page.]

4. 2nd Quiz: Due November 20th; 10% of final grade

This will be a short answer quiz focused on concepts discussed over the course of the semester. Students must define and demonstrate recognition of the terms and processes of 2nd Order Cybernetics.

[Note: Quizzes will be take-home and students given 3 days to complete and submit via the course page.]

5. Final Examination; Due December 11th; 35% of final grade

The Final will be done during class over Zoom and turned in at the end of that allotted time via the submission link on the course page.

To encourage this process of translating theory into practice, there will be a video presentation most weeks and students will participate in a family system's analysis of each video. The final will be a video exam at the end of the course that will focus on your ability to recognize the relational dynamics in the video and use Family Systems terms to describe those processes.

The content which you will be expected to master will be drawn from the lectures and class discussions, the texts, and from any handouts that are distributed during the course. This exam will involve watching a portion of a 'professor-selected' video. Then you will be required to answer questions which will reflect your understanding from a systems perspective of the dynamics in that family in the video.

In preparation for this exam, students are encouraged to review the lectures, their take-home quizzes, and in-class video discussions as well as the texts. Students will take the final during classroom time, typing their answers, and submit the final via the submission link on the class page before leaving the Zoom platform for the Final.

MANDATED 6 COUNSELLING SESSIONS:

In addition to the above assignments, all counselling majors are now mandated to have 6 counselling sessions with a counsellor as part of their coursework:

Students who reside in Canada may book with a counsellor at the Tyndale Wellness Centre. Directions for this booking will be found on the class page. These bookings must be done by the first week of class.

The sessions will be at reduced costs, and generally students may reimburse the loss through Tyndale's medical insurance plan. If students want to engage in counselling beyond this mandated 6, they may make further arrangements with the Wellness Centre.

(Students residing outside Canada are responsible for arranging and paying for the cost of 6 session with a qualified provider, and they email their professor about their arrangements by the first week of the semester.)

These 6 sessions must occur within the 12 weeks of the course, and documentation from their therapist is required at the end of the 6 sessions to prove attendance. During these required 6 sessions, students are responsible for the agenda for each session. If a student has difficulty deciding on agendas for their sessions, they may read from the suggested references found in the directions on the class page to generate ideas about issues in their lives that might impact safe and effective use of self as a future psychotherapist.

When these sessions are completed at the Wellness Centre, a Certificate of Completion will be released, allowing the student to receive a grade for the course. If sessions are taken outside the Wellness Centre, a similar note of completion must be emailed to your professor prior to final's week.

D. GUIDELINES FOR THE SUBMISSION OF WRITTEN WORK

Grading Rubric

Please consult the rubric provided for each assignment on your course resource page at classes.tyndale.ca.

Academic Integrity

Integrity in academic work is required of all our students. Academic dishonesty is any breach of this integrity and includes such practices as cheating (the use of unauthorized material on tests and examinations), submitting the same work for different classes without permission of the instructors; using false information (including false references to secondary sources) in an assignment; improper or unacknowledged collaboration with other students, and plagiarism (including improper use of artificial intelligence programs). Tyndale University takes seriously its responsibility to uphold academic integrity, and to penalize academic dishonesty. Please refer to the Academic Integrity website for further details.

For proper citation style, consult Citation Guides for different styles. Students are encouraged to consult Writing Services.

Students should also consult the current Academic Calendar for academic policies on Academic Honesty, Gender Inclusive Language in Written Assignments, Late Papers and Extensions, Return of Assignments, and Grading System.

Turnitin Text-Matching Software

Tyndale has a subscription to Turnitin, a text-matching software that ensures the originality of academic writing and verifies the proper citation of all sources. The instructor for this course will use Turnitin for assignments submitted through your course resource page at classes.tyndale.ca. Upon submission, you will receive a summary that includes your submitted files along with a similarity report generated by Turnitin. Please be aware that Turnitin can also detect AI-generated content from tools like Grammarly, so students should be mindful of when using such software. It's advisable to confirm with your instructor before using any AI tools into your assignments. Below are some useful resources:

- Student Guides for Turnitin via classes.tyndale.ca course resource page

Research Ethics

All course-based assignments involving human participants requires ethical review and may require approval by the Tyndale Research Ethics Board \(REB\). Check with the Seminary Dean's Office (seminaryoffice@tyndale.ca) before proceeding.

Late Papers and Extensions Policy

All papers and course assignments must be submitted by the due dates indicated in the course syllabus. Unless the instructor already has a policy on grading late papers in the course syllabus, grades for papers submitted late without an approved extension will be lowered at the rate of two-thirds of a grade per week or part thereof (e.g., from "A+" to "A-," from "B" to "C+"). Please note that some programs, such as cohort-based or intensive courses, may follow a different policy due to the nature of the program.

Faculty may not grant an extension beyond the last day of exams for the semester. Requests for extensions beyond this date must be addressed in writing to the Registrar by filling out the Extension Request Form. The application will be considered only in cases such as a death in the family, medical emergency, hospitalization of oneself or immediate family member or prolonged illness requiring treatment by a physician. Factors such as assignments for other courses, holidays, and technology-related difficulties are insufficient grounds for requesting an extension.

A temporary grade of incomplete (“I”) may be granted by the Registrar. Once an extension is granted, it is the student’s responsibility to contact the instructor and make satisfactory arrangements to complete the outstanding work. A grade of “F” will be recorded for students who do not complete the outstanding work by the deadline.

E. COURSE EVALUATION

Tyndale Seminary values quality in the courses it offers its students. End-of-course evaluations provide valuable student feedback and are one of the ways that Tyndale Seminary works towards maintaining and improving the quality of courses and the student’s learning experience. Student involvement in this process is critical to enhance the general quality of teaching and learning.

Before the end of the course, students will receive a MyTyndale email with a link to the online course evaluation. The link can also be found in the left column on the course page. The evaluation period is 2 weeks; after the evaluation period has ended, it cannot be reopened.

Course Evaluation results will not be disclosed to the instructor before final grades in the course have been submitted and processed. Student names will be kept confidential, and the instructor will only see the aggregated results of the class.
